BERT G. CHEEK FOUND GUILTY OF CHILD NEGLECT AND FINED

Longest Trial Ever Held in Juvenile Court Ends—Husband Admits Hiring Detective to Watch Wife.
The longest trial ever held in the juvenile court came to an end yesterday when Judge Frank J. LaGrange found Bert G. Cheek, 210 Parkway boulevard, guilty of child neglect. The case of Mrs. Laura Staab, who was charged with contributing to the neglect of Cheek's children, was taken under advisement by the court. In the trial Cheek introduced as evidence copies of every letter he had written his wife, the original of every letter he had received from her for two years, and acknowledged that he had hired detectives to follow her wherever she went. Cheek's counter-accusations were based principally on a letter Mrs. Cheek was supposed to have received. It was brought out in the testimony, however, that Cheek had intercepted her mail and that this letter was intended for some one else. Mrs. Cheek testified that she had attempted to live in Indianapolis, but, as she had to live on charity, she took her children and went to the home of her sister in Pennsylvania. There she left one child and took the other to New York, where she has supported them by acting as an "extra" in motion picture productions. Cheek was fined $500 and costs and sentenced to live in Indianapolis for six months. The sentence was suspended on condition that Cheek pay his wife $10 weekly for the support of his children, and that he never again communicate with Mrs. Staab.

Murphy Will Not Employ a Deputy.
(Special to The Indianapolis News)
MUNCIE, Ind., November 14.—Horace G. Murphy, the Republican prosecutor-elect of Delaware county, will establish a precedent on assuming office by employing no deputy. He intends to give his full time to the office, and when business for the prosecutor is in progress at two courts at the same time he will hire a lawyer to represent him for the one special case. The salary of the office is only $600 a year, but he makes the position a lucrative one.

Bankers Not Entitled to Passes.
WASHINGTON, November 14.—Bankers who finance railroads are not entitled to railroad passes, the interstate commerce commission advised Newman Erb, president of the A. A. A. railroad, Mr. Erb had asked whether a ruling of the commission in 1912 regarding the issuance of free transportation applied to bankers. The commission held then that it was unlawful for an interstate carrier to issue passes to local attorneys and surgeons who did not devote substantially all their time to the business of the road.

When I was Down Town To-day I Caught Cold

"Got my feet wet and my clothes damp. I was dressed rather warm and I went from one store to another and I caught cold. I felt the effects coming home and I could hardly talk—'ker choo, my!'"

"John you go right over to the drug store and get me something for this cold, I feel so miserable and all fagged out." (John goes to the nearest drug store and gets a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for coughs and colds.)

"I'm so glad you got Dr. King's New Discovery, John. Why I remember when I was a little girl how mother used to give me this for colds, it's certainly pleasant to take and soothes the irritated throat and relieves the congestion, the first spoonful makes me feel better already."

John says: "The druggist told me that Dr. King's New Discovery was an old preparation and that he had sold it as long as he has had the store and when he used to be a drug clerk. He felt pretty sure it would fix your cold and I had seen it advertised. Glad you found an old friend." You try it.

CAPTAIN OF AMERICAN SHIP HELD ON SUBMARINE

COLUMBIAN'S COMMANDER PRISONER FOR SIX DAYS.

LANDED AT SPANISH PORT

CORUNNA, Spain, November 14.—Captain Frederick Curtis, of the American steamer Columbian, who arrived here with the rescued crew of his steamship, declared to a representative of the Associated Press that he was a prisoner on board the German submarine U-49 for six days after the destruction of his vessel.

All the 100 members of the Columbian's crew were saved, Captain Curtis said. Captain Curtis said the Columbian was warned before she was torpedoed and sunk by the U-49. The crew was left in lifeboats and the captain was taken on board the submarine.

Heard Explosion of Torpedo.
Captain Arthur Patterson, of the British steamer Seaton, says that he also was a prisoner on board the U-49 for eight days, during which time he heard the guns of the submarine in action and also heard distinctly the explosion of the torpedo which he learned later blew up the Norwegian ship, Balto, soon after which Captain Yelugen, of the Norwegian ship Fordalen, joined him in the narrow prison on board the submarine, where they were joined on the following day by Captain Curtis.

"My ship, registered at New York," said Captain Curtis to the correspondent, carried a cargo of about 9,000 tons and a crew of 100, all of whom were saved. I stopped on the command of the submarine, whose commander ordered me to abandon ship with the crew immediately, which we did without other baggage than two satchels with documents and money.

"The submarine fired two torpedoes at the Columbian, which immediately sank. The crew was left in lifeboats, while I was taken on board the submarine, which plunged immediately after I was taken into the small quartermaster's cabin, where I found the captains of the Seaton and the Balto. After me came Captain Yelugen, of the Fordalen.

Cabin Was in Dark.
"The cabin was very small. It contained a little folding table, a folding chair and three bunks. Everything was permeated with the odor of benzine. There was no communication with the exterior and the cabin was absolutely dark night and day.

"We were fed in the morning with a few morsels of black bread, a cup of coffee and a small portion of bad butter, at noon with a stew of canned meat and soup and at supper at 10 o'clock with coffee or tea and black bread with butter or marmalade. The hours spent in this narrow prison were very long and disagreeable.

"The captain of the submarine, Captain Curtis said, was about thirty-six years old, and the thirty sailors of his crew all were very young. All were attired in clothing of glossy leather.

Went on Deck to Smoke.
Captains Curtis and Patterson, relating their experience, said that they were permitted at intervals between the operations of the submarine to go on deck to smoke. They were watched on deck by members of the crew armed with revolvers, but when they went below the crew put aside their weapons. There was only one chair in the cabin, which the captain used in turn; otherwise they had to lie on the bunks.

The submarine signaled the Swedish steamer Varig, thirteen miles off the Spanish port of Camarines toward noon of November 5. The steamer stopped and was ordered to take aboard the captain and land them. She also was ordered to take aboard the crews of the Columbian and Norwegian steamers. All were welcomed aboard the Varig, the submarine watched the operation, and then ordered the Varig to make for the coast six miles from Camarines. The Varig was directed to set out lifeboats and embark the shipwrecked men in them. This was a long and difficult operation and an American from the Columbian fell into the sea and narrowly escaped drowning. He was slightly injured during his rescue.

Orders U. S. Consul to Get Facts.

MADRID, November 14.—American Ambassador Joseph E. Willard has instructed the American consul at Bilbao to proceed to Corunna for the purpose of interrogating the officers and crew of the steamer Columbian.

CHILD SUFFERED WITH ECZEMA

Mother Had to Tie Gloves On to Keep Her From Scratching.

"My little girl suffered with eczema. There were just two or three little pimples on one side of her face at first but they kept spreading till they covered her whole face. They were quite large and red, and when I washed her a watery matter came from them and they would bleed. They itched and burned so I had to tie gloves on her hands so she could not scratch, and she kept me awake a good deal nights.

"Then I saw Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertised and I used about a half a box of the Cuticura Ointment, and one bar of Cuticura Soap and she was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Andrew Scheid, Route 1, Belding, Mich., April 17, 1916.

Some think that because Cuticura does such wonderful work in soothing and healing severe itching and burning eczema it is not adapted to the gentle uses of the toilet. On the contrary, that is just where it is most effective in preventing these serious skin troubles. You can have samples for the asking. Address post-card: "Cuticura, Dept. H, Boston." Sold throughout the world.
